their numbers were kept artificially low in order to create demand and higher pay for their numbers.